THE WORK AT COLUMBIA

board Air Line, arrived in Norfolk yesfrom Columbia, S. C.

Mr. St. John spent Tuesday in Columbia, where the question of granting rights of way through the streets of ney Park for station purposes, has been under consideration for several weeks.

intendent, has been in Columbia for some time looking over the territory through which this new connection would be made between Cheraw and the Florida Central and Peninsular allroad.

Mr. St. John was very cordial in his expression as to the growth and promise of Columbia, but would not speak with entire definiteness except to say that condemnation proceedings would be begun at once to onen the way through Sidney Park to the streets on the southern side of the park, rights of way through which were unanimously granted at a meeting of the Common Council last night.

SITES FOR STATIONS.

SITES FOR STATIONS.

Sidney Park is the most available site, in the judgment of the Scaboard Air Line management, for the commodious passenger and freight stations it is their purpose to erect, and Captain McBee has been frank to state this to the citizens of Columbia, with the reservation that the park property could be procured for a reasonable amount. It was the sense of the Council last night that $15,000 would be proper damages to assess in the condemnation proceedings which will follow, and this amount was embodied in an amendment which, however, was afterwards withdrawn, as the Council decided to leave the matter for the jury to determine.

No time will be lost in pushing for-

No time will be lost in pushing forward the contemplated line, and Assistant Chief Engineer Lagoff is already on the spot with six engineering corps, and work will be commenced at once simultaneously at different points. CONTRACTS AWARDED.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

The contracts for the ties were let last week, respectively to Mr. S. L. Adams, of Cheraw, and Mr. Mike Brown, of Barnwell, S. C. The contracts for the constructions of the line, with Mr. M. J. Condon, of Knoxville, Tenn., who was the lowest bidder, call for its completion by December 15th, 1899, and already 80 pounds steel rails, covering more than the distance, has been ordered. The work of completing the telegraph line will also be hurried through at the earliest possible mothe telegraph line will also be hurried through at the earliest possible moment, a force of men already having been engaged on the northern portion of the proposed line, and wires, poles and other necessary material have been shipped for this purpose.

Capt. McBee remained in Columbia, where he will continue in charge of the detalls of this new extension of the Seaboard Air Line, the satisfactory consummation of which has been largely due to the confident belief on the part of Columbians that both Vice-President St. John and himself, with due regard to the interests of the Seaboard Air Line, were interested in the progress of Columbia also, "which," said Mr. St. John, "the Seaboard offlicials, from president down, will try to forward in every possible way."

BOARD OF HEALTH.

WILL AGAIN RECOMMEND THE ANTI-SPITTING LAW.

The Board of Health, at its meeting retrenchment by merging the offices of Medical Inspector and Assistant Health Officer into one. Drs. Odend'hal and Moncure have been holding these offi-ces for some time. Dr. Odend'hal was elected by the board to fill the new cleeted by the board to fill the new office.

The board took up an article which appeared in a recent issue of a Norfolk afternoon paper, and strongly condemned it as unjust and unfair. This article told of the good work being done by the sanitary inspectors, giving what purported to be an account of their work. The Mayor, the police department, the inspectors and the police justice were all mentioned in the article, but the Board of Health was not even referred to. It was stated that inasmuch as the Board of Health caused the appointment of the police sanitary inspectors and the health officer of the board had general supervision of the work of abating nulsances and keeping the city in a saultary condition, the article was unjust.

NUISANCES ABATED.

NUISANCES ABATED.

The sanitary inspectors reported 282 nuisances during the past week, all but 39 of which had been abated.

A warrant was ordered against a house at the corner of Queen and Church streets for not having sewer connections.

ANTI-SPITTING LAW.

The board decided to recommend again to Councils the passage of the anti-spitting ordinance as originally introduced by the Sanitary Commission.

YOUNG MAN DROWNED

Sad End of Mr. Lewis M. Tebo's Outing.

Suddenly Disappears Beneath the

Yesterday morning, about 11 o'clock, Mr. Lewis M. Tebo, of this city, lost his life in the waters of Linkhorn bay,

The unfortunate young man was a member of an outling party, which, una well-known citizen, left the city early Wednesday for a club-house on the days in recreation. The party included Mrs. Powell, Misses Margie and Nona Powell, Misses Camilla and Dickerson, of Richmond, and Mr. Lewis Tebo and his sister, Miss Beulah Tebo.

Shortly after arriving at their destination, some three filles from the nation, some three falles from the Princess Anne Hotel, Mr. Tebo donned his bathing suit and, accompanied by his sister and the other young ladies of the party, repaired to the beach not far distant for a surf bath. Entering a skiff, he pushed out a short distance from the shore and dived, as he called to them to watch him, headlong into the water. He came to the surface, and was observed by those on shore, apparently in the act of swimming, and certainly giving no sign of distress or mishap as far as could be detected.

A few moments later he disappeared from view, still the young ladies on

A few moments later he disappeared from view, still the young ladies on the shore apprehended no calamity and suspected merely that, playfully eluding them, he was concealed in the shadow of the boat. The surer intimation of his sister was quick to be impressed with a sense of a terrible bereavement. The swimmer never re-appeared to the eyes of the anxious watchers.

Efforts are now being made to recover the body of the unfortunate young man, as yet, however, without avail.

The deceased was twenty-three years of Columbians that both Vice-President St. John and himself, with due regard to the interests of the Seaboard Alr Line, were interested in the progress of Columbia also, "which." said Mr. St. John, "the Seaboard officials, from president down, will try to forward in every possible way."

Promptly at the hour the wedding party reached the church and were met in the vestibule by the attendants, where the bridal procession was formed, and proceeded up the main alsie in the following order: The six ushers two abreast, then the six maids of honer, next the ring-hearer and flower girls, the latter strewing their patrway with roses of richest hue; the maid of honor and bride in rear, while the organ, under the skillful manipulation of Prof. Marks, pealed forth the wedding march.

On reaching the front of the pulpit the groom and his best man emerged from a room to the left and met the bride, when the heautiful and impressive rite which made them husband and wife was performed by Rev. E. Dudley, pastor of Central Avenue Baptist Church, this city, a personal friend and roommate of the groom for five years at college.

The bride was attired in a rich goaway cloth gown of delicate ashes of roses, of light trimmings, with hat and gloves to correspond, and carried Bride roses.

The maid of honor was Miss S. Kin-

The maid of honor was Miss S. Kinnie Hankins, of Wilmington, N. C., a cousin of the bride. She wore lavender silk.

The bride's maids were Miss Fay Martin, of Berkley, in biue silk; Miss Virgie Jones, of Berkley, in pink silk; Miss Louise Norsoworthy and Miss Etta Clements, of Norfolk, in mauve silk; Miss Louise Norsoworthy and Miss Etta Clements, of Norfolk, the former in turquoise blue silk and the latter in silver gray silk; Miss Jennie Doughtrey, of Suffolk, in heliotrope silk, all wearing leghorn pleture hats.

The flower girls were: Blanche Bradford, of Norfolk, and Mabel Martin, of Berkley. They were costumed in white organdie and wore wreaths of flowers on their heads.

Miss Louise Woodward, of Baltimore, was the ring-bearer. She was the very embodiment of beauty in her handsome white organdie.

The best man was Mr. Shelton Duke, a brother of the groom.

Following were the ushers: Mr. Harvey T. Daughtrey, a cousin of the Groom; Messrs. George W. Toms and C. Burnby Lankford, all of Norfolk; Messrs. M. Cabell Woodward and J. Carey Martin, of Baltimore, and Dr. W. F. Fisher, of Portsmouth. Like the groom and his best man, they were full evening dress, with white gloves and beaver hats.

At the conclusion of the nuptials and while the recessional march was being played, the bridal party returned from the church and accompanied the bride and groom to the steamer wharf, where Rev, and Mrs. Duke embarked for an extended bridal tour. They will be at their home, on Maryland avenue, Baltimore, after July 12th.

The bridal presents were numerous and costly. There were gifts from members of Freemason Street Choir and Church, of which the bride has been for years an active and earnest member, including an exquisite sunburst from the groom, a diamond ring from the bride's sister, Mrs. Dr. H. C. Bradford, and a check for $125 from the members of Mr. Duke's Church in Baltimore.

Miss, Dalsy Smith, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Annie Ferebee sister of the groom, filled the role of bridesmaid. They were gowned exquisitely in white organdie and carried bridesmaid roses.

Mr. J. T. Lynch, of Norfolk, a fast friend of the groom, was the best man. The bridal party entered the church by the centre aisle, preceded by the four ushers, who were costumed in full dress, the bride in rear, on the arm of her brother, by whom she was given away. Arriving in front of the chancel and pulpit she was met by the groom, where the beautiful and impressive matrimonial rite of the Methodist Church was performed by Rev. R. B. Scott, of the Princess Anne circuit. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom, accompanied by their attendants, bearded the Virginia Beach train for Norfolk, where Mr. and Mrs. Ferebee embarked on the Old Dominion steamer for an extended bridal tour of the principal Northern cities and Canada.

The maid of honor, bridesmaid and four ashers repaired to the residence of Mr. Samuel Ferebee, a brother of the groom, at No. 234 Boush street, where they were handsomely entertained.
